

EXECUTIVE EDUCATION

Upcoming Webinar

Wednesday, January 20, 2016 at 11:00 am MST

Building Conflict-Competent Teams

Live complimentary webinar presented by Mark Mulally, University of Alberta Executive Education lead instructor in project management.

Date: January 20, 2016

Time: 11:00 am

Location: Online

Cost: Complimentary

SIGN UP

Do you want your team members to collaboratively deliver results, solve problems and respond to issues? This is particularly important for larger and more strategic projects, where challenges are complex and the stakes for resolving them are high.

During this 60-minute webinar, Mark will explore strategies for building conflict-competent project teams. He will also leverage recent insights into team development and be exposed to the latest research in how to most effectively manage decision-making in groups. The result will be concrete strategies that you can adapt and apply in your organization today.

You'll also get a preview of the Advanced Program in Project Management, which provides practical insights that leverage industry expertise, cutting edge research and extensive familiarity with industry standards.